

Ozone Trends in the Sacramento Valley Air Basin Portion of Placer County

An exceedance day is identified when there is one or more 8hr concentration measurements in a day exceeding the national 8hr ozone standard.

The graph on the left displays the number of days of ozone concentration exceedances versus population for the Sacramento Valley Air Basin in Placer County since the late 1980's. The graph on the right displays the fourth highest concentration level versus population since the late 1980's. Despite the increase in population numbers, the number of exceedances and concentration levels have significantly decreased.