It is the policy of Placer County that unlawful harassment, discrimination and retaliation are prohibited, and all employees, applicants, agents, contractors, and interns/volunteers shall receive equal consideration and treatment. All terms and conditions of employment, including but not limited to recruitment, hiring, transfer and promotion will be based on the qualifications of the individual for the positions being filled regardless of gender (including gender identity, gender expression and transgender status), sexual orientation, race (including traits historically associated with race, including, but not limited to, hair texture and protective hairstyles such as braids, locks, and twists), color, ancestry, religion (including creed and belief), religious creed, national origin, citizenship, physical disability (including HIV and AIDS), mental disability, medical condition (including cancer or genetic characteristics/information), age (40 or over), marital status, military and/or veteran status, sex (including parental status, pregnancy, childbirth, breast feeding and related medical conditions), political orientation, or any other classification protected by federal, state, or local law. Discrimination and harassment include unequal treatment because of an individual's actual or perceived membership in these protected classes or their association with a member of these protected classes. Harassment, discrimination, and retaliation are also prohibited against those who request or take legally protected time off.

It is a violation of this policy to retaliate against an individual who engages in activities protected under this policy. Reporting, or assisting in reporting, suspected violations of this policy and cooperating in investigations or proceedings arising out of a violation of this policy are protected activities under this policy.

Placer County abides by all applicable federal and state laws, regulations, and rules regarding the provision of reasonable accommodation to afford equal employment opportunity to individuals.

It is the policy of Placer County that employees, agents, contractors, interns, and volunteers have a working environment free from any form of unlawful discrimination, harassment, or retaliation. The work environment should be business-like and assure fair, courteous treatment for employees, job applicants, contractors, interns, volunteers, and the public we serve.

The discrimination appeal process codified in Placer County Code § 3.08.110 - 3.08.130, and the process to submit a complaint pursuant to the County's policy against Workplace Discrimination, Harassment and Retaliation will be disseminated to all employees. Employees should also be assured of their right to file an appeal or complaint without fear of retaliation or reprisal. All appeals will be followed by a fair, complete and timely investigation and the County will maintain confidentiality to the extent possible and remedial action will be taken if any misconduct is found. Employees, including supervisors and managers, will be trained regarding behavior that constitutes discrimination, harassment, or retaliation. Employees will also understand the importance of reporting incidents promptly to ensure that further incidents do not occur.

The Board of Supervisors expects County department heads to convey strong disapproval of discriminatory, harassing, or retaliatory behavior to their employees. All employees, including supervisors and managers, should be clearly informed regarding behavior that constitutes harassment, discrimination or retaliation of a protected class and the consequences of such actions. They should be aware that discrimination, harassment, or retaliation may be grounds for disciplinary action.
